School News

We are about to spring into March!

Our school has been very busy over the past month celebrating Black History Month, we have had drummers, special guests and performances for our students.

As we move into warmer weather please remind your child to collect all of their belongings before heading home for the day. Our teachers will be reminding students as well to take items home.

March is Nutrition Month

Did you know? March is Nutrition Month! This is a great time to explore and learn about food. An important part of this is food literacy, which includes having the knowledge and skills to grow, choose, prepare, and talk about food.

Some ways to engage your family during Nutrition Month:

Make cooking a family event! Kids can participate in age-appropriate tasks, such as measuring ingredients or setting the table.

Enjoy meals together when you are able. Mealtimes can be a great time to connect in conversation.

School Attendance Policy

Students are expected to attend school every day, arriving on time and ready to learn. Regular attendance is important and supports student success. It builds good habits and a sense of responsibility that will continue to serve the student as they transition to further studies and/or the workforce. As such, efforts should be made to build good attendance habits early in a student's academic career.

Promoting the importance of attendance to students and parents/guardians early, and intervening quickly when attendance issues emerge, will help build good habits that students will carry with them in later grades. Promoting good attendance habits is a shared responsibility, particularly for younger students. Parents/guardians, teachers, principals, and other school staff must work to emphasize the importance of regular attendance and to foster a positive relationship between the student and the school.
